

Just a Little Boy

Raising my hands praising you
Searching and seeking for you
All thoughts aside only you
Wanting your glory break through

All (Then) at once, I'm just a little boy
You've reached to pick me up
You're my father and I'm your little boy
On your lap I find (know) your love

Tears streaming out of my eyes
My hands reaching up to the skies
You know my heart's deepest cries
Your presence is changing my life

You need a father like
I need a father
He's reaching, He's reaching for you
Reach out and touch him like
You've never touched him
He's reaching, He's waiting for you

Then at once, You're just a little boy
He'll reach to pick you up
He's your father and you're his little boy
On his lap you'll know his love
